

RAVIS SAHANI

REUPEN SINGH

It was all about cool, comfortable clothing this season. KAFTAN-ESQUE TUNICS meant for a maven with Marrakesh on her mind were seen in the collections of RANNA GILL (far left), TARUN TAHILIANI and RITU KUMAR.

There were dramatic draped dresses in various designs. GAURAV GUPTA (left) cut CIRCULAR pieces of fabric to give a new "anti-fit" dimension to his dresses, many of which had hollow backs or side cowls. VARUN BAHL'S intelligent use of clever cowls and jagged waistlines proved his design dexterity.

As markets crashed, so did hemlines this season. GILL'S MAXI dresses had digitised prints, while J.J. VALAYA'S (left) FLOOR-FLIRTING dresses had mosaic-tile or colour-chip prints. GAURI & NAINIKA'S sculptural gowns, cut according to the curves, were cinched at the waists before widening into a romantic trail.