

Second Take

After five years, Kannada film industry's Priyanka née Trivedi is back. The actor, wife of superstar Upendra, took a break to raise her two children. In her second innings, she will be acting opposite Upendra (R) in the Kannada remake of Aitraaz. While she plays the homemaker, Celina Jaitely plays the seductress. "Celina and I did some modelling assignments in Kolkata when we were starting out," she says. Guess things won't be so pretty onscreen.

STYLE FILE

Kiran Rai uses Indian locations like a taxi and Mumbai streets for her spring summer catalogue.

Who's That Girl? Rai is the creative brain behind Sir Alistair Rai. Born to Indian parents in England, she was educated in Switzerland.

Style Quotient Her Bohemian line of dresses and scarves promote peace and global awareness.

Famous Faces Drew Barrymore mentioned Rai's scarves in an interview. Since then, Angelina Jolie, Julia Roberts, Halle Berry, Jessica Alba and Lindsay Lohan have all wrapped these around their necks.

Hitch Wicket

He may be the bowler but now it's Irfan Pathan's time to get caught. The speedster has been dating Australia-based Shivangi Dev, daughter of an Indian diplomat, for the past four years. And now he's out with it. He will soon marry Dev, a chartered accountant who runs a dancing school. Like good children, they waited for their parents' approval. But Pathan's father wants elder brother Yusuf to get hitched first. Till then, gather some more air miles, Irfan.

NEW SHINE

One was Miss UK, the other has studied theatre in the US. Katrina Kaif first hit the jackpot and now with stardust in their eyes, women from all over the world are knocking on Bollywood's shiny doors.

Snita Mehay The latest entrant may have just moved from England but she's already matched steps with Sanjay Dutt for a song in Luck. Will she get luckier?

Gayatri Patel She wanted everyone to shake their booty with her debut Let's Dance. Alas, no one moved.

Hazel She might not know the language but she knows how to romance Bollywood style. Will soon be seen in Flat with Jimmy Shergill.

Lisa Lazarus Compared to Kaif when she found an onscreen partner in Salman Khan for his magnum opus Veer.
