

A 4-Point checklist for choosing the right nutritional supplement

A constant feeling of fatigue and loss of energy has led you to a popular nutritional supplement usually introduced to you by a friend. You are now content adding it to your diet, but are you convinced about its effectiveness? And are you sure that it answers your need for a nutritional supplement?

Here's a 4-Point Checklist to help you gauge the right nutritional supplement.

1. Check if your nutritional supplement is complete.

If you list all the nutrients your body needs in a day you will find that your average nutritional supplement has just a few nutrients while ignoring many others. This leaves you with a nutritional supplement that may not nourish your body from head to toe.

2. Check if the nutritional supplement has all the nutrients in the right amount

The Recommended Daily Allowance (RDA) drawn up by the ICMR suggests the appropriate dosage for nutrients according to Indian dietary habits. A quick comparison with this list will help you notice that there may be many deficiencies in your nutritional supplement.

3. Check if the nutritional supplement has a comprehensive label

Nutritional supplements ought to be available with comprehensive packaging that not just lists the ingredients but also reveals the relevance and benefits of each nutrient.

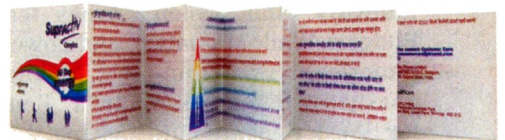

- | | |
|--|--|
| ■ Mental Ability | ■ Immunity Boosters |
| ■ Heart Health | ■ Stamina Boosters |
| ■ Vitality | ■ Muscle and Bone strength |

4. Check if the company is prepared to handle your queries / concerns.

Any company offering a nutritional supplement should have professionals who will help you understand the product.

A good nutritional supplement is usually accompanied by a comprehensive pack insert.

This 4-Point checklist will now help you evaluate your nutritional supplement. Or you could choose Supractiv Complete, a nutritional supplement that's just right.

We know what the right nutritional supplement is. We know, because we make one.

Introducing Supractiv Complete - For All Day Energy.

A complete nutritional supplement, Supractiv Complete has nutrients and vitamins offering benefits from head to toe. The Supractiv Complete packaging also contains a comprehensive leaflet with in-depth information and comprehensive FAQs. If you seek any further information, we are waiting to help you at www.supractiv.com.

For a FREE sample, please sms 'activ india today' to 566776

All Day Energy