

Billabong High International School, Noida

proves learning can be holistic and joyous

Billabong High International School, Noida

For the savvy parents of today who have a long wishlist from schools, Billabong High International, Noida, seems to have covered most of these.

Jasmine Gandhi, Director of the school, states, "A renewed outlook on education has become essential to bring about the changes and cope with the future world. Our school not only educates, it equips and enhances the skills and potential of each and every child."

Billabong High International, Noida, is part of Kangaroo Kids Education Ltd. (KKEL) that was started in 1993 by Lina Ashar with a vision to introduce a system of education that is child-centric. Starting with an innovative model for preschool, today, KKEL is a leading provider of education frameworks that disseminate research-based education in a stress-free environment. KKEL operates preschools, high schools and teacher training institutes across India with presence in Dubai and Maldives as well.

Essentially, what distinguishes KKEL's style of education is its proprietary curriculum and learner-centric methodology. This system of education incorporates activity-based learning that encourages higher order thinking skills in children.

Lina Ashar, chairperson (KKEL), says, "For students to become engaged with learning they must be awakened to the meaning or purpose of the subjects. When subjects are taught or learned in isolated compartments they rarely seem meaningful. We need to spark a love for life-long learning rather than enforce concepts. From the very beginning, a deeper understanding of subjects and issues needs to be developed in children in order to produce the leaders, thinkers and solution-providers of tomorrow."

KKEL ensures that global 'best practices' in education are met across all its institutions. True to the essence of any KKEL institute, Billabong High International, Noida, exemplifies the best of both worlds - a curriculum that is child-centric and exceptional, with an equally impressive infrastructure. The school spans across seven and a half acres of land. It encompasses huge playgrounds, advanced laboratories and state-of-the-art technology. The school boasts world class facilities like an astro-turf tennis court, basketball courts, a football ground, a short course Olympic size swimming pool, an athletic track and a cricket pitch. These superior facilities are extended to all schools across Noida in the spirit of developing healthy competitive values amongst children.

In a world where education is viewed as cumbersome, Billabong High has brought back the joy in both learning and teaching. That alone, we'd say, is a huge achievement!
