

NEMAI GHOSH SITS
WITH HIS MASTERPIECES

SUBIR HALDER

ART EXHIBITION Picture This

When you have more than 90,000 pictures, selecting a few good ones becomes a task. It also speaks volumes for the sheer wealth of the collection. That in a nutshell is what Nemai Ghosh has to offer to the world in terms of a sneak peek into the life and works of Satyajit Ray. "Manikda was really indulgent once he saw the first photographs I took of him during the shoot of Goopi Gayen Bagha Bayen and from then on I was allowed on the floors; in his studio, his home, everywhere. The world has not even seen 50 per cent of the photographs I have taken," said Ghosh on the eve of an exhibition at Kolkata's Rabindranath Tagore Centre (RTC) titled "Satyajit Ray—from Script to Screen", a collaboration between the Indian Council for Cultural Relations and the National Gallery of Modern Art, Delhi. Inaugurated on June 10, it will be on till June 28 at one of RTC's galleries, Nandalal Bose Gallery. The documentation is a rare insight into the life of a man who changed Indian cinema. by Elora Sen

MUSIC REVIEWS

Ghazals RedoneGHAZAL-E-MOHABBAT
EMI Rs 195

As followers of ghazals complain of low standards and decreasing popularity, the ghazal finds itself lost in the quagmire of cacophony. This compilation contains oft-heard ghazals by Mehdi Hasan, Farida Khanum and others.

INTEHA
BIG Music
Rs 150

Jagjit Singh never stops excelling. Here he is singing the verses penned by young lyricists Alok Shrivastav and Sanjay Masoom, among others. Manzilein kya hain raasta kya hai is worth listening to, again and again.

SAQI LOUNGE
SAREGAMA
Rs 175

This album is not for purists because Bobby Jutley and Bhakta have remixed Ghulam Ali's ghazals. It is an attempt to familiarise the youth with ghazals. They have been electronically modified.

by S. Sahaya Ranjit

CONCERT

Sounds of SILENCE

What The Fête de la Musique started as an annual music festival performed every year in France on June 21, usually the day of the summer solstice. Today, it has spread to more than 30 countries across the world and is celebrated as World Music Day.

Who Ten artists come together under a common platform to play fusion music under the banner of Shoonya, which which translates to nothingness. The group comes together to create eclectic and genre-defying music. The sounds of silence and the sounds of the universe find harmony in the coming together of Shoonya, which includes well-known musicians like Lester Godinho and Colin D'Cruz, jazz musicians on the drums and bass guitar respectively. Ashok Kumar is on the djembe, Prakash Sontakke on the slide guitar, Sridhar Sagar on the saxophone, Michael Sorensen on the didgeridoo and Manoj George on the violin.

Where A prelude at Bangalore's Ravindra Kalakshetra on June 19 and the concert at Christ College Auditorium on June 21. by Nirmala Ravindran

MEMBERS OF SHOONYA