The serpentine queues outside the principal's office grow by the day as students and their parents await admission interviews for science courses at Loyola College, Chennai. That, now, is nothing unusual as Loyola is the star in the science stream yet again. It is followed by St. Stephen's, Delhi, and St. Xavier's, Kolkata, in second and third place while St. Xavier's, Mumbai, comes in a close fourth. The surprise is in the lower order with Christ College, Bangalore slipping from eighth to the 13th place and St. Xavier's, Ahmedabad managing to elbow its way back into the top 10. Besides Loyola, three Chennai colleges—Presidency College, Madras Christian College and Stella Maris—find themselves in the top 12, establishing once again the emphasis on life sciences in Chennai.

Back at Loyola, it is clear that the stream goes beyond the classroom. Not too many colleges can boast of being
