

JALEBEE CARTEL

MUSIC REVIEW

The Band WAGON

There is a silent revolution happening in the underground music circuit. Not only have new bands mushroomed but they have also started launching their own albums. Jalebee Cartel is one such band whose album is being released by DADA Music. The album, Onepointnothing, is the sound of Jalebee Cartel mixing genres in a 72-minute trip that rewires the future and contorts the past. This album is not only their first but

ONEPOINTNOTHING
DADAMUSIC
CD Rs 300; Pen Drive Rs 500

the first in India to be released on both an audio CD and a pen drive. The 2 GB pen drive will have the complete album with a bonus track and Jalebee Cartel's music video Tough Cookie also. The 12-city India tour is on till April 24, covering Kolkata, Bangalore, Chennai, Kochi, Pune, Hyderabad and Goa. A musical leap in putting India on the world's electronic dance map. by S. Calling to God

Music is the ultimate bhakti, said vocalist M.S. Subbulakshmi. And there have been times when the listeners have wept listening to bhajans or Gurbani. To experience such blissful moments, check out the Bhakti Utsav organised by Seher from April 3 to 5 at Nehru Park, Delhi. The line-up includes Manjusha Patil Kulkarni (Abhang), Jayati Ghosh (Rabindra Sangeet), Harshdeep Kaur (Sufiana Qalam), Sadanam K. Harikumar from Kerala (Sopana Sangeethan) and Ravi Joshi (Sagun Nigun Bhajans).

BARAH AANA

Money's Worth

Director: Raja Menon

Starring: Naseeruddin Shah, Vijay Raaz and Arjun Mathur

RATING ★ ★ ★ ★ ☆

It's not exactly Aravind Adiga's White Tiger. But it is very much part of the zeitgeist. It is Mumbai's ugly underside. And it hurts to be there. Ask the waiter, the driver and the watchman who comprise Raja Menon's unlikely heroes in Barah Aana, an unexpected little gripper that traces the arc of how the powerless become empowered, learning to speak up and demand their rights. If not by the right
