

The splendid Esplanade

Pass your time at the Zoo.

Singapore

The tiny island state almost didn't exist half a century ago. So there is little in terms of History that you can see in Singapore, but the city's administrators have filled Singapore up with a variety of places you can visit to pass your time. Aquariums, bird parks, Zoos... they are all there. But if you find yourself in Singapore with some time to spare you should check out the city's latest additions.

ESPLANADE: The fantastic esplanade theatres by the Bay features a spectacular new building where the aluminium sun shades covering the glass doors give the building the look of a local fruit called Durian. The esplanade contains two huge halls- one for concerts and one for the performing arts. Even if you can't catch a performance checking out this incredible building will be worth your time.
