

Los Angeles

The second largest city in the United States is also the spiritual form of Global culture, thanks to the fact that most major movie and music studios are based here, and thanks also the most famous neighborhood-Hollywood.

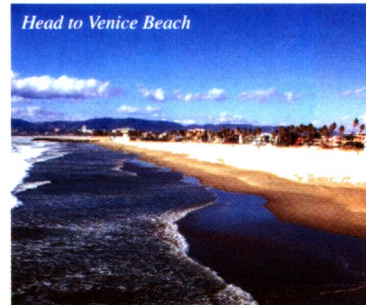

HOLLYWOOD BOULEVARD: Other than the sign which dominates the skyline, one has to pay a visit to Hollywood Boulevard one of the most famous streets in the world-and not just to see the walk of fame, but also to check out the Kodak Theatre (where the Oscars are hosted) and the famous old Grauman's Chinese Theatre. The Boulevard has a host of posh nightclubs and restaurants (which are expensive, mind you!) Where you might even get to see an A-list celeb. LA also has a host of small ethnic areas, the most famous being China town, but you can also see little Armenia and Thai town where you can grab a meal.

VENICE BEACH: if you have the time head down to Venice Beach, One of the areas most colourful neighborhood (It has mural, including one Jim Morrison, who was a former resident), with some of the most expensive residential real estate in the world.

Head to Venice Beach

Pay a visit to the Kodak Theatre

Hollywood Boulevard; A must watch