SALONI MALHOTRA
 DESICREW, 27

Few would believe that youngsters sitting at a call centre in a remote Indian village can draw digital maps, answer queries on the newest pub in Mumbai or even provide knowledge-based research to financial firms in different countries. But 27-year-old Saloni Malhotra's DesiCrew, a rural BPO company, is making the impossible happen in five districts of Tamil Nadu. "The idea was to move these jobs to rural areas so that youngsters don't have to move," says Malhotra, who belongs to a new breed of young professionals.
