Losing Out

Sunidhi Chauhan seems to be taking inspiration from Kareena Kapoor. The Beedi singer has become a shadow of her former self after having lost 15 kg. For eight months, she has been working out rigorously and has revamped her diet. It's good to stay fit, Sunidhi, but not when you look stick thin. Grab a burger and some fries, will you?

"My target audience is not just the Marathi speaker. I want to draw in the youth of India."

ON HER TOES

Dev D's Paro is back. Mahie Gill is being called the new dancing queen thanks to the two mujras in Anurag Kashyap's Gulaal. The actor, who plays Kay Kay Menon's mistress, has learnt Kathak for two years. That's probably why she shot the first song, Ranaji, within eight hours despite an injured back, and the second, Chakmak, within four. "I had no time to rehearse as I had joined the crew a day before. Anurag told me that Chakmak's a very suggestive song so I brought that out," says Gill.

Going Solo

A new voice in musical Bollywood is always welcome. Akriti

Kakar, who's sung for films like Kismet Konnection, is the newest playback singer to be slowly working her way to the top. The singer recently crooned Mar jaani and Khuda ya in Billu. But as the voice of Bipasha Basu in Aa dekho zara, Kakar has, for the first time sung a solo. "Most times playback singers assume the actor's character. But with Mohabbat aapse, I sang like myself," says Kakar, who's busy working on her debut album too. Singing for her supper gets a whole new meaning here.
