

MUSIC FESTIVAL

An Electric FUSION

The Rajasthan International Folk Festival 2009 at Jodhpur's Mehrangarh Fort from October 1 to 5 will again break creative boundaries as it showcases some of the best traditional and cutting edge music.

FARRUCO

Watch the play of virtuoso Spanish and flamenco guitarist Antonio Rey. Then watch Rey pair with Flamenco dancer Farruco to present a dance recital. Guitar playing, percussion and singing, Farruco and his co-dancers will have the audience dancing and grooving to their tunes. A red-blooded cultural extravaganza.

SIVAMANI

The one-man percussionist Sivamani begins by introducing his instruments and then three Rajasthani drummers—on the khartal, morchang and nagada—to bring on a mix of rustic rhythms and contemporary beats. Finally, he joins hands with the Spanish musicians for a grand finale.

The sound of the desert is interpreted by sarangi maestro Ustad Sultan Khan. He will be joined for this performance by one of Rajasthan's most accomplished sarangi players in the roots tradition, Lakha Khan Manganiyar.

by S. Sahaya Ranjit

SULTAN KHAN

MR BIG

MUSIC

Big is Back

Everyone who grew up in the '90s would remember humming Baby baby it's a wild world or To be with you or Just take my heart. Formed in 1988, the band, Mr Big, found a loyal following among both youngsters and adults post their self-titled hit album. Striking a chord within the rock genre, Mr Big comprising Billy Sheehan (bassist), Paul Gilbert (guitar), Eric Martin (vocal) and Pat Torpey (drums) will perform in India as part of their reunion tour. In February, the band announced the reunion on the 20th anniversary of its formation. At Bangalore's Palace Grounds (October 10), Shillong's Polo Grounds (October 12), Dimapur, Nagaland (October 14) at DDSC Stadium.

by Nirmala Ravindran

ART

Work for a PRICE

What At Osian's first store, art aficionados will find an array of artwork ranging from the modern to the contemporary Indian to rare oleographs and lithographs along with other work by Raja Ravi Varma, Sunil Patwardhan and F.N. Souza. Pieces will range from Rs 3,000 to Rs 1 crore.

Who Neville Tuli has spearheaded Osian. His vision is to create a new infrastructure for Indian art and culture.

Where Artwork updated fortnightly, at Vama, Peddar Road, Mumbai.

by Nishika Patel