

The Great Indian Gene Findings

SEPTEMBER 21, 2009

Studies by major scientific establishments reveal whether your genes put you at risk for cancer, diabetes, asthma, heart diseases and AIDS. Also, who is an Indian.

“The study of genes can help us in our preparedness to combat diabetes, cancer and heart diseases. It should also be able to thwart the class and creed consciousness in our society.”

K. CHIDANAND KUMAR, Bangalore

The Gene Factor

Your cover story on gene findings was indeed an eye-opener (“The Great Indian Gene Findings”, September 21). The risk of susceptibility to a disease found more specific to a geographical region should help in taking specific protective action, especially against diseases like cancer and malaria.

One expects the Government to take the hint from these findings and take appropriate action so that the common man benefits.

A.J. SAHAYAM,
via www.indiatoday.in

Let us hope that multi-ethnic gene pool of India would help unravel more mysteries of illnesses and disease, thereby bringing relief to people worldwide. There is no doubt

Birth of a Dynast

In a country like ours where geriatrics have traditionally dominated politics, it is no wonder that there is still a widespread support for Jaganmohan Reddy (“Another Son Rises”, September 21). It once again highlights the prevalence of dynastic politics. Things would change only if political parties are forced to become democratic due to pressure from voters, and drastic reforms are introduced in the political system.

G.S. RAO, Bangalore

The Congress is in a dilemma over the growing demand to anoint YSR's son as Andhra Pradesh chief minister. But the question is whether the Congress is safe in the hands of the young politician. Despite his parentage, Jaganmohan would have to prove his mettle on his own.

K.U. MADA, Mumbai

that further research would unravel secrets behind the big killer, cancer. Additionally, we should not forget the benefits of regular exercise, active life and yoga in getting rid of an indisciplined lifestyle.

K.V. RAGHURAM, Wayanad

Seeking Justice

It is unfortunate to see how fake encounters have evolved as a weapon in the coercive armoury of the Indian state (“The Politics of Encounter”, September 21). The murder of Ishrat Jahan is a stark reminder of police brutality in the name of combating terrorism. In my opinion, a CBI investigation will throw light on what truly happened.

V.C. DIXIT,
via www.indiatoday.in

FOR SUBSCRIPTION ASSISTANCE, CONTACT: Customer Care, India Today Group, A-61, Sector-57, Noida (Uttar Pradesh)-201301.

Phones: 2479900 from Noida, 95120-2479900 from Delhi and Faridabad, and 0120-2479900 from Rest of India.

Toll Free No.: 1800 1800 100. Fax: 0120-4078080. E-mail: wecare@intoday.com