

The Government of Nagaland with its emphasis on the theme 'Back to the Land' has implemented various farmer benefit oriented programmes in the State.

1. National Watershed Development Project for Rainfed Areas (NWDPA):

- Targeted an area of 5702 ha. for operation out of which 2257 ha had been covered.
- Conducted 361 nos. of trainings for farmers/beneficiaries and 10 nos. of trainings for project implementing agency at identified institutes.
- 310 Minor irrigation projects to irrigate 10281 ha completed.

2. Agriculture Link Road:

- Completed 50 nos. of Agriculture link roads under Negotiated Loan from NABARD (RIDF-XIV) programme, covering 410 kms.
- Targeted to complete 50 nos during the current year.

3. Agricultural Technology and Management Agency (ATMA):

- Established Farm Schools at Tuensang, Wokha and Mokokchung.
- Held exhibitions on Republic Day (26th Jan 2009) at Mon, Dimapur, Mokokchung, Wokha and Kohima respectively.
- Participated in the Green Revolution Summit & Expo 2008 Kolkata and India Fair 2008 at Bangkok

4. Soil & Water Conservations:

- Integrated Waste Lands Development Programme (IWDP) have been implemented for soil moisture conservation and 35 projects covering 1,44,00 ha completed.
- Afforestation and Rain-water harvesting projects have been taken up under the National Afforestation Programme (NAP) and 33,728 ha covered.
- Jhum control and Integrated Land Development projects covering 6,580 ha have been completed.
- River Valley Project (RVP) of Dhansiri covering 8755 ha for enhancing productivity completed.

Capacity building:

To match the requirement of technology, the Government sponsors officers, farmers and entrepreneurs to acquire the requisite skills in corresponding activities at Universities and Institutions. Awareness and exposure trips for farmers and exchange programmes are regular programmes.

Agriculture Marketing: (The Agricultural Marketing Development (AMD) Act 2006 notified)

- Constructed 3 nos. of wholesale markets at Dimapur, Pfuetero and Phek.
- Constituted 18 nos. of Agricultural Produce Market Committees (APMC), 90 nos. of Sub Market Yard and more than 1000 Village Market Committees.
- Provided 40 nos. of Spice Drying Machines with 1 MT capacity per day to APMCs, Self Help Group (SHG) and Progressive Farmers.
- Deputed 15 APMC, Women SHG and Progressive Farmers to Sikkim for study tour on spice curing and floriculture marketing.
- Conducted State/District/APMC Level trainings on implementation of APMC Act and the General Rules for constitution of Market Committees.
- Transported 200 MT of vegetables, fruits, spices and pulses to various consumer markets.
- Established a permanent N.E. Agri Expo site at Dimapur.

Organic Certification:

- Organic Certificate awarded to the Tuensang Organic Farmers by the globally recognized Certification Agency, the SGS India Pvt. Ltd.

- Benefiting 32 villages in Shamatore and Chessore circles in Tuensang district comprising 3423 individuals covering delineated area of 3002 of Organic farming for crops such as Kholar, maize, ginger, large cardamom, passion fruit and chilli.
- The Government has registered Naga King Chilli under GI and Naga products marketed under the brand "Naga Fresh". The Government has also signed an MOU with ITC & Spices Board of India for diversification and production of Naga King Chilli.

The Democratic Alliance of Nagaland (DAN), a pre-poll alliance of Regional and National political parties came to power in 2003 and is into power for a successive second tenure from March 2008. The DAN Government under the leadership of the Chief Minister, Shri. Neiphiu Rio, has adopted innovative policies towards empowerment of the people. The State of Nagaland has witnessed major revolutions since then, in infrastructures such as roads, office buildings, irrigation dams & canal, commercial and resort complexes etc. all with long term visions and with emphasis on quality. The empowerment policy of the Government was manifested in observations of 'Year of Youth Empowerment', 'Year of Farmers', and 'Year of Capacity Building'. The State of Nagaland has enacted for delegation of powers to the people through direct community participation in management of public services in Health, Power, Education and Water Supplies. The Act known as 'Communitisation Act' was acknowledged by the United Nations, and Nagaland was awarded the U.N.'s 'Public Service Award 2008'.

The DAN Government, while laying the pre-requisite infrastructures for empowerment of the people, is striving towards 'Revolutionisation' of the hitherto 'Consumer Naga Society' into a 'Producer Naga Society'. The basis of which is by enhancement of the age-old practices with modern technologies and industrializations and by utilization of the bounties of Nature through industrialisation.

