Family Business and Entrepreneurship

What do Reliance, Dabur, Birla and Ranbaxy have in common? Apart from being some of the biggest companies in the country, they are all family-managed organisations. A course in family business management has therefore been designed to cater to the growing demands of this segment which has to expand their inheritance.

Retail Management

A general MBA will not focus on the nitty-gritty of the retail world, and that is where this specialisation steps in to acquaint one with all the aspects in the world of Wal-Marts. One gets familiar with concepts such as retail technology, supply chain management, visual merchandising, store managing, retail branding, etc.
