

When the Brave took centre stage at the Godfrey Phillips Bravery National Awards 2009.

Since its inception in 1990, the Godfrey Phillips Bravery Awards have recognised over a thousand bravehearts from across India. Today, it has become a movement that touches the lives of countless people in every corner of the country.

The Godfrey Phillips Bravery Awards 2009 ceremony, turned out to be an evening that awed and humbled, that motivated and inspired. The winners included: Physical Bravery Awards - Late Chintan Joshi, Late Subhash Swain and Late Talib Hussain. Social Acts of Bravery Awards - Grace Nirmala, Pratibha Devi and Parmaben Sava. Mind of Steel Award - Yashoda Palan. Social Lifetime Achievement Award - Drs. Prakash and Mandakini Amte. Amodini Award - Chetna Gala Sinha.

It was an experience in itself to hear the words of Dr. Prakash Amte after he and his wife Dr. Mandakini Amte received the Social Lifetime Achievement Award. For the last 35 years they have been living in inhospitable jungles providing medical services and helping improve the lives of the Madia Gond tribals. It was also heartening to hear about the incredible work done by the Amodini Award winner Chetna Gala Sinha, whose rural bank for women and extensive work in micro finance, has already helped 58,000 rural women.

Amodini Award winner Chetna Gala Sinha.

“

It was nothing short of a pilgrimage
and a spiritual
moment that brought pictures of living Gods in front of me.

”

- Shri Salman Khurshid
speaking at the Bravery Awards.

Social Lifetime Achievement Award winners
Drs. Prakash and Mandakini Amte.