PARENT TYPES

HELICOPTER: Like helicopters, parents hover overhead, rarely out of reach, whether their child needs them or not.

ROTOR BLADE: The overtly fussy parent, fidgeting constantly over their offspring. A lot like the rotor-blades of a chopper.

CURLING: As in the Olympic ice sport of curling, parents who try to 'sweep ice' (obstacles) out of their child's path.

BLACK HAWK: Like the US military helicopters, aggressive parents who will do whatever it takes for their child's success.
