

DOCUMENTARY FILM FESTIVAL

The Real Thing

The Public Service Broadcasting Trust celebrates stark reminders of our conflict-ridden lives. From 14 Afghan women journalists who explore the impact of Taliban rule in Afghanistan Unveiled (Brigitte Brault and the Aina Women Filming Group) to discussions centring on gender, hijab and identity; from chronicling the backlash with feminists such as Gloria Steinem in My Feminism (Dominique Cardona and Laurie Colbert) to premiering Adoor Gopalakrishnan's Oru Pennum Randaanum, the Open Frame Film Festival will provide food for thought between September 11 and 17 at the India Habitat Centre, Delhi. Also catch quirkier stuff in The Female Nude by Hem Jyotika & Devi Prasad Mishra on the story of a nude model and A Short Film About... by Divya Sachar which is a look at how urban Indian women view their breasts.

MORALITY TV AND THE LOVING JEHAD

Paromita Vohra
Vohra has been at the forefront of writing on and filming the media in India over 15 years. Her documentary looks at the impact of breaking news on India's chaotic news channels.

SEEDS OF DISSENT

Pankaj Rishi Kumar

A road movie that traces the voices of farmers along the way, from Kanyakumari to Delhi, by a filmmaker who has worked as an editor on several films, among them Bandit Queen.

ANWAR: DREAM OF A DARK NIGHT

Anwar Jamal
The film explores the tenacity of the human spirit, through the story of his namesake Anwar, a migrant to Delhi. The director is currently working on his new feature film, The Survivors.

MUSIC REVIEW

Classic Act

BEGUM AKHTAR
SARE GAMA
Rs 495

Begum Akhtar elevated the genre of ghazals to the classical platform. She was at ease with the other semi-classical forms like Thumri and Kajri as well.

In the book, Begum Akhtar: Love's own voice (Roli Books), S. Kalidas gives you a glimpse of the world of Akhtar. The book comes with a CD containing her greatest hits where one can distinctly note her style of rendering which made her music timeless.

MUSIC FESTIVAL

In Memory

Bangalore will play host to the Dhvani Bangalore Kidney Foundation (BKF) Pandit Mallikarjun Mansur Hindustani Music Festival. The foundation's relationship with the maestro dates back to 1991 when he was a patient there. After Mansur's demise in 1992, the BKF decided to hold an annual concert in his memory. The festival opens with a jugalbandi between the sitar and sarod by the Kedia brothers. It will also feature Pandit Satyasheel Deshpande, Ustad Raza Ali Khan, Pandit Kaivalya Kumar Gurav and Alka Deo Marulkar. On September 12 and 13 at the JSS Auditorium.
