

FILM REVIEW

ORU PENNUM RAND AANUM

Signs of Our Times

RATING ★ ★ ★ ★ ☆

Director Adoor Gopalakrishnan
Starring Nedumudi Venu, KPAC
 Lalitha, Manoj K. Jayan, Praveena

Adoor Gopalakrishnan, 68, appears to have fallen in love with not just a particular form but an author too. For he has once again made an anthology film, Oru Pennum Rand Aanum (Climate for Crime), comprising four short films, repeating what he did last time in Four Women (2007). And like Four Women this too consists of four stories penned by the Jnanpith-winning Thakazhi Sivasankara Pillai. Structured like a simple fable, Oru Pennum... is a foray into the psychosocio-economic context of the war-ravaged 1940s when misery pushes people to crime. The first part, The Thief, starkly narrates the trauma of a young boy stigmatised as the village thief's son. The second, Police, is on how even law-keepers are driven to cut corners. Two Men and A Woman looks at the way even a fair-minded youngster can be tempted by Satan when life gets difficult. The final, One Woman, Two Men, is a bold retake of conventional mores of morality, walking the thin line between the socially accepted right and wrong. Adoor profoundly proves yet again in his eleventh feature film how a work with deep political and social insights can be made without shouting from the rooftops.

by M.G. Radhakrishnan

IF YOU HAVE 90 MINUTES, spend it watching the dance-drama, Ramlila, at the Shriram Kendra lawns from September 19 to October 15.

DANCE FESTIVAL

Thrilling MOVES

Seher presents the Ananya Dance Festival 2009, a classical dance extravaganza that focuses on group choreography. From October 3 to 7, at Purana Qila, Delhi

MONISA, 30, AND MOUMALA NAYAK, 36

Sisters Monisa (Jaipur Gharana) and Moumala Nayak (Lucknow Gharana) will perform Nartan, showcasing a variety of music which has been used in Kathak till now.

BHASKAR PAUL/www.indiatodayimages.com

ASTAD DEBOO, 62

Witness avant garde contemporary fusion by Deboo and his troupe of eight drummers from Manipur. Their dance Rhythm Divine is a highly defined and ecstatic performance.

REMA SHRIKANT, 50

The grand finale will show the Bharatanatyam dancer from Vadodara making her debut in Delhi with her troupe. Their performance commences with a recital of the Ganpati Vandana and concludes with a brisk tillana. by S. Sahaya Ranjit

PHOTO EXHIBITION

Feeling It

What 'Emotions in Mono-chrome' is a series of photographs featuring candid stories of regular people. The stark black and white images tell subtle tales of anxiety, love and pain.

Who Sudha Pillai, journalist, documentary filmmaker and photographer.

Where At Bangalore's Olive Beach (September 24) and Renaissance Gallerie (till October 3). by Nirmala Ravindran