

Haryana: Destination for excellence in education

University almost in every district

The present government led by Mr. Bhupinder Singh Hooda has earmarked a record Rs 5,123 crore during 2009-10 alone for education. It is an overall increase of 60 per cent over the previous year. Haryana has a clear vision; education is the key to enlightenment and higher level of economic and social development.

- Rajiv Gandhi Education City is coming up at Kundli with 25 per cent seats reserved for domiciles of Haryana. It would be nerve center for higher learning and quality research.
- During the last five years, Haryana has established either a university or an institute of excellence after every 50 kms. Some cities have even two universities.
- EDUSAT network scheme has been implemented in all colleges. It was earlier available in all schools of Haryana.
- Bhagat Phool Singh Women University, first all women university of North India set up at Khanpur Kalan in district Sonapat. An all women medical college is also coming up there.
- Government women colleges have been set up at Panchkula, Tosham, Panipat, Chhachhrauli, Balwala(Hisar), Lakhan Majra and Rewari and government colleges have been set up at Kaithal, Julana, Mandi Dabwali and Birohar. A women wing has been opened at Government College, Sirsa.
- A regional postgraduate centre of Maharshi Dayanand University, Rohtak at Mirpur in district Rewari and a regional postgraduate centre of Kurukshetra University, Kurukshetra have been set up at Jind. More are in the pipeline.
- Monthly scholarship of Rs 1000 to all students of Scheduled Castes studying in colleges. Also Rs 2,000 per year for purchase of books and financial assistance of Rs 500 per month to those living in hostels.
- Financial assistance of Rs 750 per month to the students belonging to below poverty line families and studying in colleges.
- Haryana Private Universities Act, 2006 has been enacted to promote competition in higher education and encourage setting up of educational institutions for higher education of international standard. The State Government has received nine proposals from private institutions under the Act in which one O. P. Jindal Global University has been set up.
- Students belonging to Scheduled Castes are imparted training in computers and after they passed the exam concerning training they have given 2117 computer set, printer and UPS free of cost.
- Students belonging to minority Muslim community and whose parents having annual income of Rs 50,000 or less are entitled to get a financial assistance of Rs 1500 for purchase of cycle and of Rs 500 for stationery.
- It has been decided to set up a regional Postgraduate Centre of Foreign and English Language University, Hyderabad at Meham in district Rohtak.