

NO SMALL STEP

She made her mark as the shy Nadira in Santosh Sivan's Tahaan. This time, Rasika Dugal will be seen in Yash Raj Films productions' first tv series.

"It's a beautiful script; one of the best I've read," says Dugal. Written and directed by Atul Sabharwal of My Wife's Murder fame, the series is investigative in nature and will comprise 26 episodes in its first season. We wish them both luck.

Q&A

"I will let my work do the talking"

Arunodaya Singh, 26, the grandson of veteran Congressman Arjun Singh makes his Bollywood debut with Piyush Jha's Sikandar.

Q. Why films, and not politics?

A. I saw my first English movie, On the Waterfront, in 1991, when I was in school at Kodaikanal International. I looked at Marlon Brando and thought this is what I want to be.

Q. What does it take to be a hero in Bollywood?

A. A lot of luck. I've been trying since 2004; five years later, Sikandar is only my first film, for which I had to audition twice.

Q. How does it feel to be a hot new face?

A. Expectations are dangerous. I like to fly under the radar as far as possible and let my work do the talking.

A Different Cut

Taking to Bollywood's arc lights may have been the easiest thing Saba Ali Khan could have done, just like siblings Saif and Soha, but the daughter of Mansoor Ali Khan Pataudi and Sharmila is cut-out for greater glitz. The jewellery designer who has her own company, Saba Sultan and Co., has partnered with Opulence Lounge, a luxury diamond jewellery brand, to bring out her signature line of diamond jewels. With the new range comprising diamonds set in white gold, we give you no prizes for guessing who her first customers will be.

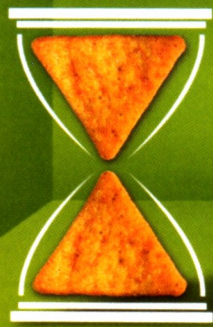

The Kolkata Kid

Here's another slumdog kid waiting to make his story public. Bilal, 5, a shanty-dweller in Kolkata who takes care of his blind parents, is now telling his story on celluloid, through the documentary of filmmaker Sourav Sarangi. The Bengali film, titled Bilal, has been received well at international film festivals and now awaits commercial release in India. "Bilal has an uncanny adult way of looking at things. He was born to blind, poor parents. I have made this film in the shanty he lives. I have tried not to glamourise poverty," says Sarangi. If it's all for a social cause, why get defensive Mr Sarangi?

■ Compiled by Swati Mathur

76 Volume XXXIV Number 35; For the week August 25-31, 2009, released on August 24

Turn us upside down, we'll still be standing straight.

Har Angle se Mmmmm....

