

A New Front

BANDIEP SINGH

One is fighting for azadi; the other has a penchant for painting nudes. It's an odd pair but Jammu and Kashmir Liberation Front chief Yasin Malik is all set to marry London-based Pakistani artist Mushaal Hussein. The two were to get married in October 2008 but it was delayed due to Malik's arrest for opposing elections. The marriage may take place soon as Malik is currently in Pakistan. "I'm going on a personal visit. I will solemnise my nikah according to Islamic tenets," Malik said before leaving. In the 1980s, he had allegedly vowed celibacy for Kashmir's liberation. Wonder what changed that—the art or the artist.

SOUND HONOUR

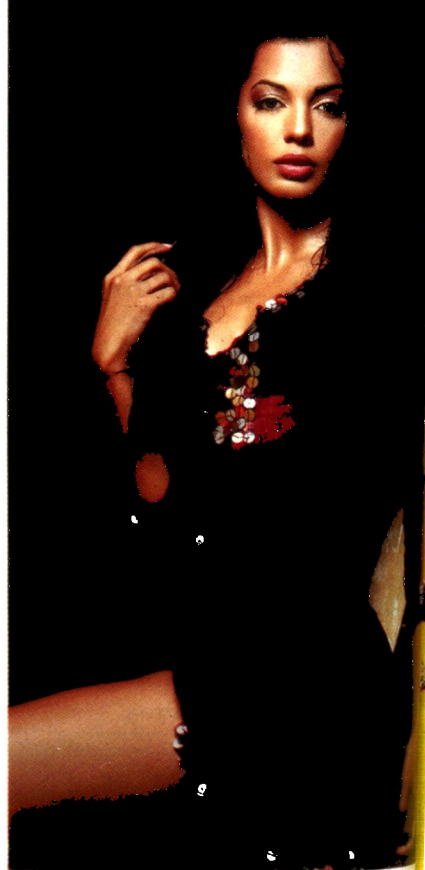

While growing up, Resul Pookutty lived in a village in Kerala without electricity. But today, he might be a few weeks away from winning an Oscar—he has been nominated for sound mixing for Danny Boyle's Slumdog Millionaire. "When I heard about this, I wept on Danny's shoulder," says Pookutty, who has worked on Black, Saawariya and Ghajini. A.R. Rahman's music is making the right noise, but Pookutty is hitting a high note too.

KK NAJEEB

Prison Break

Mugdha Godse seems to have made Madhur Bhandarkar very happy. After Fashion, the director has signed the former model again for Jail. "He offered me this film and I couldn't say no," says Godse, who is thrilled about her first lead role. Starring opposite Neil Nitin Mukesh, Godse says her character isn't as glamorous as Janice. From being fashionable to being jailed, some transition, eh?

"In Yeh Mera India, I play a Maharashtrian girl. And in Down Town, I play a small town girl who comes to Mumbai to be a part of a reality show."

Smilie Suri, actor, on her roles in forthcoming films

A Loved Triangle

Har Angle se Mmmmm....

