■ OMRON HEALTHCARE

Body Composition Scale HBF-361 Body Composition Scale HBF-362

- TAKE ACTION AGAINST DANGEROUS VISCERAL FAT WITH OMRON HEALTHCARE'S NEW TOTAL BODY COMPOSITION SCALE

Omron Healthcare launched two uniquely accurate body composition scale (model

HBF-361 & 362) to measure visceral fat, a significant predictor of heart disease and diabetes. A growing body of research suggests that visceral fat—deep underlying fat in the abdomen surrounding a person's vital organs—may be a greater predictor of heart disease and diabetes than simple weight or body mass index (BMI). The HBF-361 & HBF-362 not only measure visceral fat, but resting metabolism, subcutaneous fat and skeletal muscle—helpful indicators for consumers to use when determining appropriate calorie intake and amount of exercise. A person's resting metabolism, or amount of calories burnt daily through normal activity, often decreases with age. The HBF-361 & 362 scales also take more common measurements such as body fat percentage, weight and BMI to help users plan proactive steps toward better health
