

FOTOCORP

SHE'S HAUTE

Acting honours aside, we want to give Slumdog Millionaire's Freida Pinto the fashion princess award. She dazzled at the Palm Springs International Film Festival in a sky blue RM by Roland Mouret, glittered in a white Zac Posen at the 14th VH1 Critics' Choice Awards and made mustard desirable with her Derek Lam dress at the BAFTA Tea Party. In towering peep toes, Pinto's been providing great style succour.

"I play a flower seller Lali, who is in awe of Shah Rukh Khan. Her life changes when the actor tells her she is beautiful."

Preetika Chawla, actor, on her forthcoming film, Shah Rukh Bola Khoobsurat Hai Tu

AP PHOTO

Poll Dance

As nothing surprises us anymore, we aren't shocked to hear that actor Sanjay Dutt's wife Manyata may contest for a Lok Sabha seat on a Samajwadi Party ticket. The failed item girl's name was suggested by party General Secretary Amar Singh after Dutt's eligibility was questioned considering his legal tangles. The ticket tamasha has also meant that Congress MP and Dutt's sister Priya has blamed Manyata for pushing her brother into politics. Daggers drawn, she has also questioned Manyata's shady past. The item girl's poll dance may face more opposition than she imagined.

Worth the Weight

Starring in films down south isn't enough for Brinda Parekh. The model-turned-actor is all set to bare her claws as the negative lead in Vipul Shah's London Dreams with Salman Khan, Ajay Devgan and Asin. "When I got a call from Vipul Shah, I was recovering from a knee surgery and had put on weight. He asked me to lose the kilos for a glamorous role," says Parekh. Hopefully her weight loss will result in some serious on-screen gains.

The only angle from which to solve a problem is the try-angle.

Har Angle se Mmmmm....

