

TWENTY-20

All for a Cause

Slated to be the largest extravaganza, the Malayalam film Twenty-20 stars over 60 actors, including Mamooty, Mohanlal, Suresh Gopi and Jairam. "The idea was to have just one song, but after watching Om Shanti Om, we wanted to make a masala film with all the stars," says Dileep, the actor and conceptualiser. The film is being made to raise money for the industry's ailing veterans. But it's already created controversy, with the superstars' fan base feeling they have gotten a raw deal in the film posters. by Nirmala Ravindran

MOHANLAL

DANCE FESTIVAL

Feet to the Rhythm

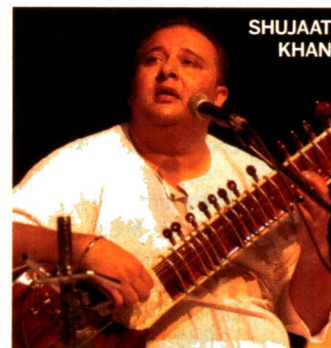

It is rare to find young dancers getting a concert, stage and recognition without having to hire one and arranging everything on their own. Seher has started a new series titled Udbhav to showcase younger exponents from different classical dance forms. It begins with the talented Odissi dancer, Sudha Mukhopadhyay, a disciple of Guru Madhavi Mudgal. On November 10, at the India International Centre, Delhi. by S. Sahaya Ranjit

MUSIC FESTIVAL

Song of a Day

Banyan Tree has organised a festival, Teen Prahar, where musicians will perform morning, afternoon and evening ragas. The artistes include Sombala Satle (dhrupad), Rakesh Chaurasia (flute), Shujaat Khan (sitar), Devaki Pandit (vocal) and Taal India, a Rajasthani folk ensemble. On November 13, at Delhi's Habitat Centre.

SHUJAAT KHAN

ART EXHIBITION

Mixture of Tones

London born and bred artist Furrah Syed will show her latest line The Collection in Bangalore. Since her move to India two years ago Furrah Syed's work has shown a keen inclination to explore colour, texture and movement. Her experimentations with mixed media will be the focus of this collection. Abstract expressions provide for pure energy and vivid emotions in her works and the bold colours help in creating movement in what would otherwise be static works. Leaving the audience with their own interpretation Syed does not believe in titling her work, which is also the reason behind the title of the show. Seen earlier in group shows in the city, Syed has also done commissioned work in the Middle East and the US. This is her first solo exhibition. At Abstract Gallery on November 15. by Nirmala Ravindran
