

SOURAV GANGULY, India's most successful captain and one-man cricket cult, waves to fans in Nagpur after his last day in international cricket. Ganguly's final series became the farewell scripted by the gods of theatre, featuring a 16th Test century, 7,000 Test runs and an outpouring of public adoration.

THIRUVANANTHAPURAM | Jumbo Problem

Karnataka Chief Minister B.S. Yeddyurappa stands accused. And his crime: he donated an elephant to a temple in Kannur without the mandatory clearance from the Chief Wildlife Warden (cww) of Kerala. Elephant trapping is banned in the state where the demand for pachyderms is high, especially at temple festivals. This has led to smuggling of the animals from Bihar under the pretext of 'donation'. The nine-year-old male pachyderm passed through the hands of two donors before permission was sought to "donate" it in Yeddyurappa's name. The elephant changed hands but not the clearance. by M.G. Radhakrishnan

YEDDYURAPPA
JOINS A LONG
LIST OF POLITI-CIANS WHO HAVE DONATED ELEPHANTS TO TEMPLES IN KERALA. BUT
HE'S THE FIRST
TO GET CAUGHT.

