

Paris Max

Her edgy designs have been a rage on the ramp. And now Bangalore-based designer Sanchita Ajjampur is going to Paris. She is the only Indian participant at the Under The Louvre trade show, an event being staged during the Paris haute couture week. Organisers saw her collection at a showroom in Paris and selected her. Ajjampur is now all set with her tees, dresses and accessories. Bonjour Paris.

TAAL ORDER

The tabla's been her instrument of choice. So much so that Mumbai-born US-based singer and performer Tina Sugandh is called the Tabla Girl, which is also the name of her debut album. The Ice Princess singer is one of the few Indians to have released an album on an American label without going pop. Even though she sings primarily in English, her sound remains Indian with one song even titled Bollywood Girl. In sync, indeed.

"My feet are sore from practice"

His feet are sore, but not from playing football. Bhaichung Bhutia won Sony's Jhalak Dikhhla Jaa 3 but lost favour with his club, Mohun Bagan AC. He says he will not dance again to anybody's tune.

Q. How different is dancing from football?

A. Dancing is a different ballgame. I never thought I could dance, let alone win a reality show.

Q. Is it over with Mohun Bagan?

A. I refused to play a friendly match in Siliguri so things got unfriendly. They knew of my TV commitments. I won't be playing for them again.

Q & A

THE LOVE TRIANGLE

It's a huge relief to finally see Katrina Kaif opposite actors her age. Ranbir Kapoor strikes twice opposite the smart Kat. First in Rajkumar Santoshi's Ajab Prem Ki Gajab Kahani and then as an NRI assisting his mother's political empire in Prakash Jha's Rajneeti.

VS

Katrina's other yuppie love will be Imran Khan, who rather unsuccessfully tried tough talking in Kidnap. The two pretty actors will sing some songs and do some acting in Sanjay Gadhvi's romantic comedy Seven Days In Paris.
