

Mission Disruption

If four diverse Pakistan-based terror groups have come together today and enhanced their offensive against India with renewed vigour through audacious, almost platoon-level infiltrations across the LoC, it is undoubtedly a desperate bid to disrupt the ongoing Lok Sabha polls ("The New Terror Threat", April 27).

NALINI VIJAYARAGHAVAN,
Thiruvananthapuram

To Know More

If our so-called leaders are having wealth in crores, then the right to such information should be extended to its logical conclusion of their self-governance standards and compliance of revenue laws and tax payment to the treasury ("Millionaire's Row", April 27). Such information should be periodically shared and not just at the time of elections.

S.M. VAISHNAV,
Vadodara

Poll Gauntlet

Seeking advantage by either going alone or joining virtual fronts or making unprincipled volatile alliances or breaking them has become rampant in our country ("Friends Turn Foes", April 27). The time has come for a clarion call; the electorate should not heed thoughtless manifestoes replete with unrealistic promises. Instead, they must unrelentingly evaluate the performances of parties, and credibility and character of the candidate.

INDU SHANKAR,
Varanasi

In the Right Hands

The smooth acquisition of Satyam Computers by Tech Mahindra through a bidding process should come as a major relief to its shareholders and its 48,000 employees ("The Game Changer", April 27). That the Government resisted the temptation to men or exhibitors—are looking for a scapegoat ("Sorry for the Interval", April 27). But the real culprits are not among them; it's the audience which is not captive anymore. They don't have to go to a multiplex to watch a film; pirated DVDs and wide screens at home do the trick for them. Khan is no longer the King; it's the consumer who is the monarch.

K.S. JAYATHEERTHA,
Bangalore

MANDAR DEODHAR

“Pramod Mahajan's murder case should be probed from other angles as well because he allegedly accumulated a lot of unaccounted wealth by virtue of being a political heavyweight.”

SUBHASH CHANDRA AGARWAL, via www.indiatoday.in nationalise the fraud-hit company and chose to put its faith in the private sector is a sign of the inherent strength of the country to deal with a complex corporate scandal.

J. AKSHAY,
via www.indiatoday.in

The Kingmakers

The players in the Indian film industry—be they actors, directors, camera-

Shining Star

No Indian cricketer has risen as consistently and phenomenally as Gautam Gambhir ("The Stealth Bomber", April 27). The passion and fire seen in him as a cricketer is rare. The wait from 2003 to 2007 has truly brought out the talent in him beyond expectations. He is the face of the new Indian cricket.

ROSE KETTY TETE, Roorkee

30
YEARS AGO IN INDIA
TODAY

JUNE 16-30, 1979

Demoralised But Militant

The incidents of atrocities against policemen, sporadic as they might appear, provide evidence of their insidious and widespread mishandling by malignant political forces. In the present context they mark the approximate beginning and the end of the police revolt which infiltrated seven Janata-ruled states, racked the rank and file of the country's constabulary, and reduced the framework of law and order to a nightmarish mockery that no democratic government in the world can hope to survive, let alone look in the face. Small as they are, they stand out as dangerous portents denoting the wreckage of a political and social system that has begun to devour its own institutions. And they carry the even more dangerous suggestion that a militant stand, whatever the causes of discontent, has become the only method of fighting injustice or exploitation.

Sunil Sethi with Prabhu Chawla

PROTESTING POLICEMEN

Readers are recommended to make appropriate enquiries before sending money, incurring expenses or entering into commitments in relation to any advertisement appearing in this publication. The India Today Group does not vouch for any claims made by the advertisers of products and services. The printer, publisher, editor-in-chief and the editor of the India Today Group publications shall not be held liable for any consequences in the event of such claims not being honoured by the advertisers.

E-MAIL YOUR LETTERS TO: letters.editor@intoday.com

FAX THEM TO: 011-23316180

OR LOG ON TO: www.indiatoday.in