George Fernandes

1975

George Fernandes was never a stranger to controversy, whether in chains during the Emergency or as a minister in the Janata Party government. He revelled in his maverick status. In 1979, INDIA TODAY quoted him saying, "I am an outsider. I don't belong to the establishment." As for his threat to quit the Union Cabinet, INDIA TODAY said, "The act, a Fernandes special, bore an uncanny resemblance to the opening scenes of the spectacular nation-wide railway strike he spearheaded in 1974."

“EVERY TIME YOU SHAKE THE TUBE, YOU GET A NEW PATTERN.
NEXT TIME YOU MAY EVEN GET A NEW PARTY.”

GEORGE FERNANDES, Janata Party leader
