

Minipreneurs

E-bay was the pioneer of this trend. A vast army of consumers has now turned entrepreneur, using the World Wide Web. There are five million such businesses in the US, representing 25 per cent of all small businesses.

Hacktivism

PIONEERED BY RONALD DEIBERT, PRACTISED BY THOSE WHO ARE HELPING PEOPLE IN WEB-CENSORED COUNTRIES. A SOFTWARE PROGRAM PSIPHON, DEVELOPED AT THE UNIVERSITY OF TORONTO, HELPS USERS TO SURF THE WEB FREELY.

Affluenza

According to British psychologist Oliver James, it symbolises all developed and developing nations' plight when its citizens race to achieve the quintessential American dream.

GeoWeb

A process of linking the geographic location of people, places and things with the digital information that lives on the Internet. Many of the enabling technologies behind a GeoWeb are becoming common, including GPS-enabled mobile phones and urban wireless networks. So if you're alone in a new city, just switch on your phone.

Burying Carbon Dioxide

Kurt Zenz House, a Harvard PhD candidate, has come up with a solution for global warming by devising an innovative solution to bury carbon dioxide at least 3,000 m below sea level and prevent it from spreading in the ocean.

Youth Voting

Rock the Vote was founded in 1990 by Jeff Ayeroff to engage young people in the political process by bringing together the entertainment community and youth culture.

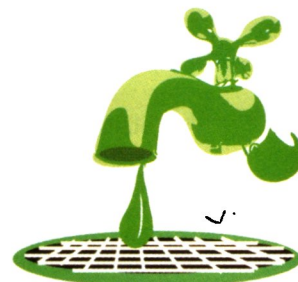

Robotics

Japan will soon become the first in the world to mass produce a robot that assists humans in moving their limbs. It will help millions to walk again.

Pollution Magnet

VICKI COLVIN, A PROFESSOR AT RICE UNIVERSITY IN THE US, INVENTED A NEW WAY TO CLEANSE THE WATER SUPPLY OF ARSENIC IN 2006. IT CAN GO GLOBAL IN FIVE YEARS AND COULD BECOME AN EASY WATER PURIFICATION SYSTEM THAT WOULD COVER VIRTUALLY EVERY POLLUTANT.

Innovative Education

INITIATED THREE YEARS AGO IN SOUTH AFRICA, OUT OF THE BOX IS AN ENVIRONMENTAL EDUCATION PROGRAMME DESIGNED TO TEACH CLASS IV-VII STUDENTS MATHS, SCIENCE AND ENGLISH IN AN INTERACTIVE WAY USING TOYS.

Want a real jhatka?

Introducing Bingo! Hatke Jhatke in two yummy flavours -
Funky Masala and Tomato Twist

