

DELHI | Staying Alive

Ajmal Amir Kasab, the sole surviving attacker of the 26/11 Mumbai terror attacks, is in danger. Not from the public who would like to lynch him for his cold-blooded murder of over 50 travellers at Chhatrapati Shivaji Terminus but from the Mumbai underworld. According to an electronic intercept picked up by R&AW earlier this month, the ISI has commissioned Dawood Ibrahim and his lieutenant Chhota Shakeel to eliminate Kasab, currently exhibit A in Pakistan's complicity in the Mumbai terror attacks. The 21-year-old—who has provided intricate details of the Mumbai attack plot, logistics and execution—has turned into an international embarrassment for Pakistan. Why the D Company was picked for the task is not hard to see. Since his capture in November, Kasab has been lodged in Mumbai's Arthur Road Jail which also has a sizeable number of inmates from the D Company. This has only added to the worries of the Mumbai Crime Branch guarding Kasab. Kept in the high security 'anda' (egg) cellblock—thus called for its circular shape—Kasab currently leads a Truman Show-like existence. Besides CCTVs, which keep an electronic eye on him at all times, three unarmed policemen are stationed inside his cell round-the-clock to ensure the erstwhile suicide attacker does not try to kill himself. All his food is tasted by the police to ensure he isn't poisoned. His life is now synonymous with India's case against Pakistan.
