

SWRAJ
PAUL

9

78, Entrepreneur

Big Daddy

Because he is a close friend of British Prime Minister Gordon Brown, who was one of the few people to be invited to his son, Angad's, restricted wedding held at the London Zoo.

Becausenot only does his stewardship of the £625-million Caparo Group make him one of the richest Indians in the UK, but he is also the first person of Indian origin to be appointed Deputy Speaker of the House of Lords.

Did you know?

He said "Indians can't be trusted" after losing the election for the chairmanship of the Commonwealth Parliamentary Association.

VINOD
KHOSLA

10

54, Venture Capitalist

REUTERS

Ace Ventura

Becausehe has put $300 million of his own money into big ideas to counter global warming and has become synonymous with Silicon Valley start-ups.

Becausethe co-founder of Sun Microsystems, which he exited at the age of 30 after an IPO, routinely makes it both to Forbes' 400 Richest list and Vanity Fair's New Establishment list.

Did you know?

He has pledged $5 million to his alma mater, IIT-Delhi.

Top Doc

BecauseObama picked him as the next US Surgeon General and if appointed, he will be the highest ranking person of Indian origin in the US Government.

Becauseas chief medical correspondent for CNN and anchor of its global health show, he is the most famous TV surgeon in America.

Becausehe writes a column for Time and other scientific journals, produces documentaries, and also finds time to be voted among People's Sexiest Men Alive.

SANJAY
GUPTA

11

39, Neurosurgeon
and TV Celebrity

Did you know?

He had a spat with Michael Moore when he criticised his documentary, Sicko, on the US health-care system.

FLUORIMAG