

Private sector :

idea-15 Small & medium enterprises (SMEs) contributing to 30% of our GDP, giving employment to 10 crore people, but are availing only 2% of the available loan. The more is the availability of loans for SMEs, the more will be the availability of jobs. Since most SMEs are not organized (not having proper record of their financial transactions), banks & financial institutions are showing interest to finance only large companies. So, to make sure that all SMEs file income tax returns properly & make their transactions more transparent, a central credit rating agency, exclusively meant for SMEs, should be established. Based on the IT returns, SME credit rating agency's report & the previous loan repayment history, banks & financial institutions feel equally comfortable with SMEs when compared to large companies. Another idea is to establish District level Stock Exchanges to raise capital for local SMEs with less than 20 crores share capital requirement. This would not only help these SMEs survive & grow faster, but also help us give birth to dozens of Tatas, Birlas, Ambanis etc.

idea-16 Existing labor laws are offering full job security to industrial labor. This is hampering our industrial development, as excess job security brings laziness into work. So, many foreign companies not showing interest to open their plants in India. Thus, we are forced to import many goods from other countries. So, we should segregate all industries into 2 categories: employment creating industries (ex: jute mill) & wealth creating industries (ex: mobile phones company). We should have 2 separate Labor Acts to deal with these 2 sectors. Any company that falls under employment creating industries category should concentrate on maximum employment creation with maximum job security, even at the cost of foregoing some portion of profits. Companies that fall under wealth creation industries category can freely lay off their workers at their will. Government will maintain a separate department to relocate those laid off workers mostly in employment creating industries. Special tax benefits should be made available to employment creating industries.

Revenue generation :

idea-17 Our tax collection is at abnormally low levels, as there is no incentive for the revenue staff on the amount collected by them. To make sure that no single business firm & individual escape from payment of tax, we should offer commission percentage to the revenue staff on their total collection. Another idea is to outsource tax collection job to private companies, by offering them attractive commission on their collections.

Defence :

idea-18 Our Kargil war soldiers commented that because of lack of night vision glasses we lost 3000 soldiers. Three super cops also died in recent Mumbai blasts just because their so called bullet-proof jackets failed to shield them. If we deploy 100 Indian soldiers against just 10 U.S. soldiers, who will win? US President visits even their enemy countries like Iraq by his flight, Air Force One, which is equipped with just a few dozens of soldiers but amazingly powerful & highly sophisticated defense equipment. All of a sudden if ten thousand soldiers of Iraqi Army attack the US President, who will win- 10,000 Iraqi army or a few dozens of American army? That is the power of technology. Unnecessarily we are keeping 20 lakhs army: just 5 lakh qualitative army is enough if they are equipped with hi-tech ammunition & war logistics. The salaries we save by drastically downsizing the army can be used to super equip rest of the soldiers.

idea-19 Once upon a time, kings used to wage war against other kingdoms to occupy & enjoy their resources. Later, we became civilized. So, stronger nations started UNO, IMF, World Bank & WTO to conquer other countries with out spilling a single drop of blood. They occupied other countries by sending their MNCs, instead of their army. This is the reason we start our day with Colgate toothpaste- a foreign brand & end our day by switching off Philips tube light- another foreign brand. Most of us are using 90% foreign brands. Now, in addition to MNCs, they are sending Foreign Institutional Investors (FIIs) to invest in other countries' stock markets & conquer them by way of speculation. In 2002, Sensex was at 2600. In 2007, it touched a high of 21,200. It went up because these FIIs projected India as the next financial super power of the world, as they have heavily invested their money in our stock market. The moment their stocks reached high prices, they started withdrawing their investment. It is because of their Rs.1500 crores recent withdrawal, our Sensex fell down to 7700 levels. Why nobody is bothering about lakhs of crores of rupees market capitalization loss incurred to our companies & the amount flown into the hands of FIIs? Financial war is 1000s of times more dangerous than physical war. It is high time to establish "Indian Economists Army" to defend from this kind of economic wars.

Note: Due to space problem, we could not mention all our ideas here.

For more such ideas, visit our website, www.rcitizens.net, our email ID: contact@rcitizens.net

Do you like our Manifesto? If yes, join us to form "Responsible Citizens Organization"

What is our Mission? Come, our strength is 44%. We will form this R- Citizens Organization to bring change. We all support a strong political party that incorporates maximum points that are listed above, in their manifesto. R- Citizens have 5 objectives to bring change & rebuild India: 1- To get photo voter ID cards for every citizen. 2- To instigate these 44% voters also to utilize their vote. 3- To force all parties to include sensible points in their manifestos. 4- To force the winning party to implement its promised manifesto. 5- To file PIL petitions before the court to bring change.

Is our Mission possible? Yes, for that we should make existing parties feel that our Responsible Citizens voting strength is enough to change the final election result, as only 3% difference is found in between winning party votes & losing party votes in many previous elections.

Want to be R- Citizen? Join in our Responsible Citizens Organization as a member by sending your address, email ID, phone number to 09618855558 through SMS. We will immediately forward you your membership ID card, free of cost. With these new members, we are going to form National committee, State committees & 543 Parliamentary constituency wise committees by establishing 543 offices across India. Remember, there is no rule that all the members should actively participate in our organization's activities. Participation in any activity depends on the member's will & wish. Explaining our organization's ideology to as many people as possible through your email is also considered as a major activity.

NOTE: Depending up on availability of funds, our Organization will purchase from public, the best videos shot with even mobile phone cameras, showing distribution of money or gifts by any party to any voter. Public should shoot it covering distributors' faces, receiving voters' faces & currency or gifts. We will force all contestants to distribute constituency wise LOCAL MANIFESTO, which identifies local problems, solutions, development ideas & available resources to all voters. We have already identified 543 Lok Sabha constituencies' local problems & kept in our website. Help us by adding more problems, solutions & development ideas to this list by e-mailing us. If you believe above ideas can change India at least to some extent, ask all your friends to read this manifesto. Also forward copy of this manifesto to them by email. You can copy the content of this manifesto from our website.

The Promoter of this concept & organization is Srinivas Balla, a Post Graduate in Management from Indian Institute of Advanced Management & Graduate in Law from Andhra University, currently working as Director at Balla Institute of Technology & Management, Visakhapatnam.

Responsible Citizens Organization

www.rcitizens.net

