Yes He Khan

Because he is everywhere, at once, as a movie actor, cricket team owner, television producer, sometime television host and ambassador of 10 brands, who was the most visible celebrity on TV in 2008.

Because everything he does makes headline news, from a tiff with Salman Khan to a patch-up with Amitabh Bachchan and his film, Rab Ne Bana Di Jodi, almost salvaged a studio, Yash Raj Films.

Because he is emerging as a spokesman for Islam at a time when the religion is under global attack and though Pepsi may have dropped him as their brand ambassador, young people see him as a Bollywood outsider who made it to the top through sheer grit.

Because whether it is anchoring a film awards night or promoting his movie in a reality show, he can be counted on to perform.

funniest thing anyone ever said to him Nice try, sir. An SMS from someone after one of his movies.

biggest joy Sleeping in bed between his children Aryan and Suhana and constantly being kicked by them. And watching them ski in Austria.
