

68, Environmentalist 33

Global Warmer

Because global warming is still the hottest subject around the world and he remains one of its most visible proponents after being re-elected chairman of the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change.

Because he is a key adviser to the Central Government on the issue and is equally sought after by state chief ministers.

time off Has just completed a novel, Return to Almora.

tough guy talk "Nothing that the world is doing today is sustainable. We are going to cause enormous hardships for all species in the planet. We need to mobilise the youth, that's our only hope."

big acquisition The BlackBerry 9000.

King of Bling

Because whatever he does gets talked about, whether it's the good times or the bad times.

Because he's still the second largest liquor baron in the world, selling nearly three million bottles a day.

Because regardless of the losses, Kingfisher has emerged as the leading player in terms of market share after the merger with Deccan.

finds time for Personally supervising the scantily clad model shoots on the Kingfisher calendar.

can he explain Spending Rs 8 crore on Kevin Pietersen for a team that can't seem to win.

ANAND
MAHINDRA

34

53, Industrialist 8

RAMESH & SUDHIR AGARWAL

35

66 and 41, Media Barons 37

No Full Stops

Because the Dainik Bhaskar Group has a presence in seven states, accounting for 30 per cent of the country, and continues to expand, adding a Bangalore edition to the Mumbai DNA and a Hindi business daily, Business Bhaskar.

Because the group along with DNA is slated to close the financial year with Rs 1,400 crore in revenue.

big discovery The regional market is more valuable. Metros only account for a fraction of the population.

recession mantra Good times are boring and it's the tough times that spur good thinking.

road ahead The company will focus on cutting costs and consolidating its position in their existing markets.