

clearly is no longer a no-no.

But what is porn in a universe where G-strings are worn in music videos and A-list stars almost bare their butts in blockbuster movies? Indeed what does classify as porn? Is it just filling the blanks onscreen in a visual culture that is still heavily censored? It could be the Tina Fey character, who in the wildly funny television series 30 Rock, quickly decides to get rid of her Colin Firth DVD collection in case the visiting adoption agency representative thinks of it as erotica (and therefore of her as an unsuitable mother). It could be a demure housewife devouring a modern Mills and Boon, all steamy scenes and hot sex on the first date. It could be the busy husband tuning in to late night Sun TV song clips to be turned on. In a new slacker comedy to hit the US, Zack and Miri Make a Porno, a platonic couple discovers love after they make an X-rated Internet video to fight a mountain of debt. Predictably they find success after their film, the grossly named Swallowing Cockaccino, becomes a hit, and their company produces home movies to help jaded couples revive their sex lives. Given the smut glut during lean times, a business opportunity beckons in India.

Each age has its own definition of pornography. In a country where carnal comedies masquerading as family films are watched by

BANDEEP SINGH. OUTFIT BY KUNCHALS

HOT CITY

42

PER CENT WOMEN HAVE WATCHED PORNOGRAPHY IN CHENNAI COMPARED TO ONLY 5 PER CENT IN HYDERABAD, THE LOWEST FOR ANY CENTRE.

Have you tried any position that you saw in a pornographic film?

YES 62

NO 38

Male 68, Female 45

Male 32, Female 55

For 2,661 respondents of the total of 5,353 who have watched porn. All figures in per cent

Of the male respondents who have watched pornography, Bangalore men fantasise the most about participating in a porn video or making their own, taking the lead at 33 per cent.