Great conversations, countless memories and inside jokes are in the realm of friendship. It is a world where strange quirks are accepted, a warm shoulder for support is always available and 3 am phone calls are never considered odd. Not to forget the unexpected pranks, late night drives and hours of laughing till stomachs hurt. Somehow when you're with friends, it's always Happy Hours.

Discovered by critically acclaimed director Mani Ratnam back in 1991, A R Rahman has grown to become a globally recognized composer. Delivering hit after hit, their collaborations are nothing short of absolute brilliance. It's their friendship and the rapport they share that produces some of the best music in the industry. Time is no constraint for these two friends to bond with each other and have fun. Speaking fondly during the release of their last venture 'Guru' Mani Ratnam explains that the friendship they share, combined with their common willingness to experiment and take risks makes them look forward to working together.

Vishal Dadlani and Shekar Ravjani are the hottest composers in the Indian market today. When a rocker and an Indian classical musician combine their unique skills, they produce a fusion that effortlessly tops the charts. With movies like Om Shanti Om, Bluffmaster and Tashan to their credit, the two have come a long way since they started out together with Jhankar Beats. The secret behind the hits, they say, is their love for music, the strong friendship they share and those drives around Mount Mary!. The special bonding between the duo, made them occupy a niche in the hearts of the youth with their lively music scores.
