Food for healthy living

Coconut used in cooking enhances the taste and adds a rich aroma to your cuisine. And its fibre content ensures faster metabolism and quick digestion, besides protection from heart disease and strokes, as proven by various scientific studies. Moreover, coconut flour, obtained after extraction of milk from kernel, goes into a wide variety of baked goods that are low in indigestible carbohydrates and high in fibre.

Virgin Coconut oil the life enhancing oil

Virgin coconut oil (VCO) contains lots of vitamins, minerals and anti-oxidants. Thus making it the 'mother of all oils'. Extracted from fresh coconuts without any chemical processes, VCO is a major source of Lauric Acid and Vitamin E. It protects the skin from infections caused by bacteria, viruses and fungi, prevents dandruff and hair loss. It even eases muscular pain.

Confident Group.*

"For someone who works on tight schedules and deadlines I rely on tender coconut as a source of energy. I am convinced about the goodness of coconut. Today I use coconut oil in cooking and in various forms. I advise all people to make coconut a part of their lives, for all-round good health."

The ideal antiseptic

Coconut oil contains 40% lauric acid which gives it a high anti-viral activity. Lauric acid has proven disease fighting capabilities and helps to hone up your immune systems.

Slim and trim

A diet that consists of coconut oil with its MCTs (Medium Chain Triglycerides) ensures higher energy levels, a rise in metabolism and, consequently, reduced body weight. Coconut oil is effective in reducing body fat and lowering weight because it contains fewer calories than any other fat.

Hair care

Your hair is the victim of pollution, ultraviolet rays, chemicals, hard water and more which lead to hair breakage and hair loss. Coconut oil gives your hair that healthy look. Scientific studies prove that continuous use of coconut oil can reduce hair loss by 50% and loss of protein from hair by 25%, with users having 16% stronger hair compared to non-coconut oil users. While other oils remain atop the hair strands, coconut oil penetrates almost 90% of the scalp. What's more, coconut oil acts as an excellent pre-conditioner.

It's never too late to make coconut a part of your daily life. Coconut oil for the hair and skin or in your food is a sure way to stay healthy, fit and energised.
