

No room to even stretch their limbs

Most of India's eggs are produced in factory-like settings where animals are crammed into cages so small they can barely move. These factory farms also pose significant risks to the environment and public health.

Support Humane Society International's efforts to stop these cruel and unhealthy farming practices. To find out more, e-mail cmirle@humanesociety.org or visit hsi.org/india.

HUMANE SOCIETY
INTERNATIONAL